

CONFLICT MINERALS REPORT OF IIYAMA CORPORATION

Concerns are rising regarding mineral resources, which are significant as raw materials used in IT and electronic components. Mining such minerals in conflict-affected and high-risk areas including the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) and adjoining countries may involve illegal practices such as child labor, human rights violations, forced labor, environmental destruction, and money laundering, etc. Therefore, using minerals from these areas would promote these group activities.

Based on our view that it is our social responsibility to take this issue into consideration, the IIYAMA CORPORATION aims to procure minerals from sources with no involvement in conflicts or illegal acts (i.e., to procure conflict-free minerals) for use in our products.

To realize this goal, we investigate our suppliers to ensure that specific minerals (the four mineral resources (tantalum, tin, tungsten, and gold) defined as conflict minerals by the U.S. Dodd-Frank Act, and cobalt) are procured from sources that have no relation with illegal activities. Our investigations include 100% suppliers of TCO products:

- Wistron InfoComm (Zhongshan) Corporation Linhai Branch [No.23, Wugui Road, Tsuihang New District, Zhongshan, Guangdong, P.R. China]

If we discover that a source may have a relation with conflict material, we will request supplier stop using it and find alternative material from conflict-free source. Furthermore, we participate in the Responsible Minerals Initiative (RMI) and as a member; we continuously support responsible minerals procurement.

Reasonable Country of Origin Inquiry (RCOI)

It is a common industry practice for most companies with electronic products to utilize conflict materials & cobalt for the necessary functionality or production of the products. We conduct a reasonable Country of Origin inquiry (RCOI) to determine whether conflict minerals did originate in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), or the Covered Countries (CC). We use the Responsible Minerals Initiative (RMI) program for RCOI through CMRT Template and EMRT Template commonly used in the industry. We also require our suppliers to use these templates with their supplier bases.

iiyama Smelter and Refiner List

This list is from iiyama's suppliers. In many cases, suppliers provide information covering their entire supply chain; this information is not limited to facilities that contributed "3TG+Cobalt" used only in iiyama products. Therefore, we are unable to confirm whether our products actually contain 3TG/Cobalt from all of these sources. This list only includes facilities reported by suppliers as of August 31, 2023.
